

Loop Capital Markets is opening a London office and is seeking an International Equity Sales/Trader to join our Equity Team. Must be aggressive and have thorough knowledge of global markets and various trading strategies in addition to the propensity for sales and marketing. Series 7, 24, 63, and 55 required.

Applicants must be available to work during European securities markets hours.

The responsibilities of the individual in this position include:

- The candidate will be responsible for providing continuous pro-active sales trading coverage to institutional clients
- Collection, assimilation, and dissemination of key overnight and intraday institutional customer portfolio news
- Monitoring market information and stock price action during the day
- Verbal and written reports for customers explaining stock price fluctuations and macro and technical events affecting the markets
- Creating new means of providing valuable information to our client base

The successful candidate will possess the following:

- The qualified individual will have extensive experience covering major institutional accounts. He/she will have an extensive knowledge of international companies and international equity exchanges. Additionally he/she will bring an established book of business and an entrepreneurial mindset
- 6 or more years experience in the investment industry with thorough knowledge of global markets and various trading strategies
- Advanced computer skills including electronic trading systems and algorithmic trading
- Undergraduate degree
- The outstanding candidate will be comfortable working in an environment that emphasizes idea generation and sales
- Ability to make real time trading decisions weighing complex circumstances under considerable time pressure
- Discipline of focus and attention to detail
- Strong research, project management, and problem solving skills
- Ability to be self-directed and to work independently in an unstructured environment; comfortable asking questions and working with others to prioritize workload
- High level of professionalism and adherence to high ethical standards

Please direct all resumes to: Kourtney Ratliff at Kourtneyr@loopcap.com